David attached are some of our model bills on privatization. The Council on Efficient Government is our new model bill based on Governor Bush's effort in Florida.

Some experts on the issue of privatization are

Len Gilroy of the Reason Foundation
leonard.gilroy@reason.org

John Palatiello
john@jnpa.us

I have also cc'd our tax task force director Jonathan Williams who can be a resource for tax and budget issues. Let me know if you have any other questions.

Jorge:

As you might know, NJ Gov. Chris Christie created a new task force yesterday through Executive Order.

I'm working with the Task Force, specifically on current privatization issues and opportunities.

I was hoping you could put me in contact with an ALEC staffer who'd be willing to suffer through my relative ignorance on the topic while I picked his or her brain.

This person might then speak on same with the Chair of our Task Force, former Congressman Dick Zimmer.

Is this possible?

Look forward to hearing from you soon.

Dave

Thank you very much.

We will be scheduling conference calls in the near future with experts such as yourselves. Would you be interested in taking part and who should be the main contact if the answer is yes?

FYI.

So the NJ folks don't have to reinvent the wheel, I highly suggest thaty they contact folks from Jeb's privatization task force (called the "Center for Efficient Government") in FL.

Geoff Segal was part of that, and can get the NJ folks in touch with Pam Pfeifer and Robert Hosay, who ran that project. It was pretty impressive.
